NAT'L CONVENTION

State Chairman Torrance Says
There Will Be 4 Delegates-at-Large and 68 Delegates

LIKELY TO BACK JAMES

Whole Delegation Likely To Back "Favorite Son" For The Presidency

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, Nov. 24—Pennsylvania's Republican party girded itself today for the 1940 GOP national convention which meets in June to nominate candidates for president and vice president.

State chairman James F. Torrance, revealed that the numerical strength of the Republican delegation from Pennsylvania to the convention would consist of four delegates at large and 68 delegates, a total of 72.

It was becoming more apparent, however, that the group would solidly back Governor Arthur H. James as a "favorite son" for the presidency. At the 1936 convention, the Pennsylvania Republicans had 75 delegates. The loss of delegates at large for the 1940 convention resulted from a Democratic vote being cast in the state in 1936. The reduction, Torrance said, was made in accordance with national party rules.

Delegates at large and their alternates are elected on a statewide basis at the April primary. Two district delegates and as many alternates are elected in each of the 34 Congressional districts at the same time.

Need More Toys To Repair For Christmas

The toy repair project which is being conducted at the Bristol Community Center under the supervision of Mrs. Kathryn H. Fretz, county field supervisor for NYA in Bucks county, has repaired and painted 300 toys to date.

More toys are needed, it is stated. The project has a full month remaining before Christmas, and if the toys come in, more kiddies will have a merry Christmas.

Now is the time to clean out your old broken toys. Don't throw them away. Call Bristol 3118, and the toys will be called for.

Bristol Man and Philadelphia
Miss Wed On Thanksgiving

The wedding of Miss Marie Rose Mulgrew, daughter of Mrs. Rose Mulgrew, Philadelphia, and Eugene B. Caucei, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nazzerano Caucei, 332 Lincoln avenue, took place Thanksgiving Day at two o'clock in St. Edward the Confessor Church, Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Meely. The organist, Miss Reagan, Philadelphia, played the wedding march, and Patrick Fitzhenry, Philadelphia, was soloist.

The bride was attended by Miss Katherine Kierns, Philadelphia, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Eva Liberty, Philadelphia, and Miss Clara Caucei, 332 Lincoln avenue, sister of the groom. The best man was Renzo Grotti, Pond street, and the ushers were Marino Pica, Grand avenue, and Joseph Caucei, Lincoln avenue, a cousin of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore white satin with long full skirt and train; a veil of tulle, lace trimmed, with crown of valley lilies, and white satin slippers. She carried roses and gardenias.

The maid of honor wore aqua satin, trimmed in front with a duobonet velvet bow; a duobonet velvet tiara with shoulder length tulle veil, and duobonet slippers. She carried red roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in gowns of cameo pink satin, with accessories of duobonet, and they carried red roses.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother for the immediate families. In the evening a reception was held in Sons of Italy Hall, 100 attending. The couple left for New York City, where they are spending a few days. They will reside at the home of the bride's mother.

The groom graduated from Bristol high school, with the class of 1933.

TO CONDUCT SERVICES

JOHN RAYMOND HAND
Well-Known Evangelist

NOTED EVANGELIST TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETINGS

Rev. John Raymond Hand, of Chicago, to Speak at Corn-wells Heights

A WEEK OF SERVICES

A series of special services will begin Monday evening in the Cornwells Methodist Church under the direction of the Rev. Howard W. Oursler, pastor.

The well-known evangelist, author and Bible teacher of Chicago, Ill., John Raymond Hand, will be the speaker each evening, and at two services to be held Sunday, December 3rd. The evening meetings will begin at eight o'clock with the service on Sunday morning, December 3rd, at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. Hand is an ordained minister of the Baptist denomination. In the past he has been a teacher of Latin, physics and applied mechanics. He became enamored in gambling and then, according to his sponsors, became a professional gambler. He even served a term in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. While in prison he became a Christian.

When released in 1927, Rev. Hand began telling of his conversion and devoted his free time to lay preaching. So successful was his preaching, so great was the demand for his services, so eager were people to hear him, that he was ordained to the ministry.

For the past six or eight months he has been preaching throughout the east. He has preached in several of the large churches of Philadelphia and has been constantly engaged in services up and down the coast. This past summer over 1,000 people gathered each night to hear his messages while he was in Philadelphia. It is stated.

As an author he has written "Am I Intelligent?", "Revealed Unto Babies" and "The Autobiography of a Fool."

War Tempo Increases

Europe's war increased in tempo today, as aerial warfare spurted over France, and Great Britain coped with a new danger to her vital shipping lines—miniature mines dropped by German bombing planes.

At the same time, the British government found itself in what may prove a serious controversy with Holland and Belgium over the British plan to seize German exports.

Both Holland and Belgium consider this move a threat to their trade and neutrality. Holland already has protested and Belgium announced her intention of doing so.

Holland threatened to refuse to send Dutch foodstuffs to the British. London retaliated by predicting that the Dutch threat, if carried out, would force Britain to boycott Dutch commodities.

Revelation of still further losses at sea, brought to 26 the total ships which have gone down since last Saturday, around or near the British Isles—many as the result of mines.

The aerial sowing of miniature mines led to Britain's speedy measures to combat this new threat to shipping. German bombing planes were said to have dropped the mines in the Thames estuary, not far from London itself.

MISS LOUISE GALZERANO IS THANKSGIVING BRIDE

Becomes Wife of Fedele Falino
in Ceremony in St.
Ann's Church

TO RESIDE IN PHILA.

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized on Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock in St. Ann's Catholic Church, when Miss Louise Galzerano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luigi Galzerano, 335 Jefferson avenue, became the bride of Fedele Falino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Falino, Tacony. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Peter Pinci, with Miss Frances Tamburella at the organ console. Miss Edith Falino, sister of the groom, and Joseph Galzerano, brother of the bride, sang the Mass. The church was attractive in a decoration of palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white lace over satin, featuring a round neckline with a collar of lilies-of-the-valley, long sleeves, full skirt ending in a train, and white slippers. Her long veil and face veil of tulle featured a tiara effect, and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies and orchids, and prayer book with streamers of valley lilies.

Miss Angelina Farrugio, the maid of honor; Mrs. Vincent Galzerano, the matron of honor; Miss Pauline Greco, Miss Elizabeth Asta, Bristol; Miss Lucy Silvi, Fulltown; Miss Aurelia Mazzuca, Frankfort, as bridesmaids, were gowned in chartreuse toned lace with full skirts ending in a ruffle, sweetheart necklines with rosette trimming and bustle backs. Picture hats with orchid tone feathers, and silver sandals were worn. Each carried a bouquet of Fall flowers.

Frank Aiello, Tacony, served as best man, and Michael Morrelli, Samuel and Louis Falino, Tacony, brothers of the groom, and Louis Galzerano, brother of the bride, served as ushers. The bride's mother wore a black lace gown, silver slippers and a corsage of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Falino, the groom's mother, was gowned in a black crepe dress, black accessories and wore a corsage of roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Bristol House with covers placed for 22. A dinner was served at Verde Hall, Frankfort, at four p. m., with covers for 25. A reception followed at the Boulevard Ballroom, 500 guests attending.

After a honeymoon of ten days, the bride and groom will reside with the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. V. Galzerano, 7158 Torresdale avenue, Philadelphia. The bride traveled in a three-piece blue suit with fur trim, and black accessories, and wore a corsage of orchids.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were initialed compacts. The groom's gifts to his attendants were key rings and chains.

Third-Term Waggishness

Washington, Nov. 23.

THE recent waggishness of Mr. Roosevelt on the subject of a third term has had an interesting effect upon his political and journalistic supporters in Washington, among whom the movement to keep him in the White House originated. For the most part it has depressed them.

AS things are today, there remains only one of the New Deal writers who still insists that a third term is "inevitable." Two of the more conspicuous Administration columnists have reached the point of being annoyed by the President's "frivolity" on the subject and appeal to him to "come clean." Instead, Mr. Roosevelt inserts little trick words in his speeches and laughs uproariously over his smartness.

HIS last jest was in reference to the date for the dedication of the Hyde Park Library, which is to be in January 1941, when he will still be President, and which he expects to attend as President. He was in great glee over the fact that two or three reporters had "bitten" by trying to read some third term significance into that date. Most of the newspapers completely ignored it, and the public was unaware of the "trap" until Mr. Roosevelt pointed it out and explained his own joke. Then he repeated it in a speech the following day.

IT seemed on the whole a pretty feeble form of wit to last anyone two days but it has deepened the belief, held from the start by his more clear-headed friends, that Mr. Roosevelt has no intention whatever of running again, that

REGRETS MATERIAL CHARACTERISTICS OF
GREAT CHURCH DAYS

Rev. James R. Gailey Speaker
At Union Thanksgiving
Day Services

IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Vested Choirs of Host Church
Furnish Music For The Occasion

Condemning the commercialization of "the great days of the church," the Rev. James R. Gailey, pastor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church, spoke at the union Thanksgiving service held in the First Baptist Church yesterday. The service was well attended, with the membership of many of the Protestant churches participating.

The Scripture was read by the Rev. J. Carpenter Zook, pastor of the Methodist Church, and prayer was offered by the Rev. Andrew J. Solla, pastor of the Church of Our Saviour. The Rev. Howard L. Zepp, pastor of the host church, welcomed the worshippers. There was music by the vested senior and vested junior choirs of the Baptist Church.

"It is extremely unfortunate that the great days of the Church year have passed largely from the realm of the Spiritual and assumed material characteristics," said the Rev. Gailey.

The Rev. Gailey spoke as follows: We are gathered here today at the call of the President of the United States to observe a day of Thanksgiving. Some of the usual spontaneity of the occasion has been removed in the changing of the date for the national festival. It is extremely unfortunate that the great days of the church year have passed largely from the realm of the Spiritual and assumed material characteristics. At Christmastime the minds of the people are focused more upon the task of purchasing, for as little as possible, gifts, to be exchanged with friends and relatives who have been spending their time in attempting to find pretentious looking gifts for you at little cost, rather than upon the great gift presented to the world so many years ago in the person of Jesus Christ. At Eastertide we find a greater emphasis in the minds of the people upon personal finery and beautiful apparel than upon the glorious beauty of the resurrected Christ. So Thanksgiving Day has been infringed upon. It has been changed in order that store-keepers may have one week more in which to capitalize upon Christmas.

In spite of these facts we have been called to a day of Thanksgiving, a truly great custom in a truly great land. We have chosen as our text the words found in II Kings, 6:17—"Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see." Elisha and his servant had been surrounded by the armies of the enemy. The servant was filled with fear because there was apparently no way out of the dilemma in which they found themselves. The armies were rapidly approaching, and the end seemed near. In fear he came to his master, and Elisha breathed the words of this prayer. The eyes of the servant were opened and he beheld the power of God, and observed that God truly cares for his own. So we come this morning with the prayer that we might have our eyes opened, that we might see the providence of God in caring for his own, and the power of God in providing for our needs.

We have much to be thankful for in this land of ours. We have a heritage of which no other land can boast. Our country was founded on the cornerstone of religious freedom. When our forefathers came to this land and endured the hardships of the early settlers, erecting their rough homes in the midst of the wilderness, clearing off the woodland in order that they might raise crops, planting their seeds and tending their fields, all the while fighting disease, as well as physical danger at the hands of the Indians, they looked to God, the source of every good and perfect gift, for help and for strength. When the first harvest was gathered and the food for the winter stored away, a day of spontaneous Thanksgiving was enjoyed, when all came together and praised the name of God for His many blessings. In the years which followed the day of Thanksgiving has become an institution in our land, when we as a Nation are called into the House of God to render to Him the praise due unto His Name.

As we in memory relive the years of the short life of our land and see our development from a small handful of hardy men and women to a great nation of a hundred million souls; when we see the fertile plains rendering abundant harvest; when we see the hills being opened up and surrendering their abundant wealth of gold, silver, coal and minerals; when we see the earth being pierced and giving to us the greatest oil supply of the world; when we see schools and colleges springing up on all sides, giving education and the ability for happiness to all who would possess it; when we see our nation in a few short years becoming the other nations of the world.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

The plan for government sale of annuities up to $100 a month which New Deal Senator Wagner, of New York, has submitted to President Roosevelt will not be opposed by private insurance companies, the former thinks. This is because private insurance companies, the Senator has been told, are concerned mostly with annuities of more than $100 a month.

As to that, the insurance companies have not as yet been heard from. But that insurance companies or business in general will withhold opposition to the plan is to be doubted exceedingly. A quite general opposition would seem certain to develop, not so much because of the immediate government competition intimated as on account of inherent objections to government insurance.

As was found true of the Federal Social Security plan, so would it be true of the annuities that hoarding of the premiums in a reserve fund would be impractical. In any case, it was found, if the money was invested in government bonds, the effect was to expend it in defraying current government costs, leaving the benefits, when due, an obligation on current tax revenues. On this ground alone, business would seem certain to oppose any extension of government insurance beyond the approximate limits of the present Social Security system.

It is of course possible that premiums paid under the Wagner annuity plan might be invested in private corporate and other liens of the same sort approved for the investments of private insurance companies. But this would mean government banking on a scale resembling state capitalism, which business presumably is not yet ready to welcome.

COURT CHANGES

Associate Justice Pierce Butler was the survivor of President Harding's four appointees to the Supreme Court. He was a gentleman and a successful lawyer in Minnesota. He came to the Court in 1923. His Constitutionalism was deep-grained and unswerving. Of his legal learning and philosophic approach to problems of constitutional interpretation there was no question.

The death of Justice Butler means that President Roosevelt will have another place to fill, thus giving him the unusual total of five appointments, thus far. Associate Justices Black, Reed, Frankfurter and Douglas were his choices; and now another New Dealer will join these four. Thus there will be a clear majority of the Court of Mr. Roosevelt's persuasion.

There are three Hoover appointees—Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices Stone and Roberts. The Chief Justice, after some oscillation, has lined up with the New Dealers; of Stone's attitude there has never been doubt, while Roberts, who is on the whole Constitution-minded, has proven not incapable of what New Dealers would regard as liberal enlightenment. It is paradoxical that the sole staunch Constitutionalists left, Justice McReynolds, owes his place on the Court to President Wilson.

Through retirement and death, President Roosevelt has obtained what he sought in his rejected Court packing scheme—a New Deal Court.

The Great Game of Politics

he has already made his plans as to what he will do after January, 1941, and that these will be revealed soon after the first of the year—probably at the Jackson Day banquet in Washington. It is impossible for them to reconcile his waggish attitude with any intent to break the oldest and most deeply cherished of American political traditions.

OF course, there is an official group here which will not relinquish third-term hopes until the convention, itself, has formally nominated its candidate, but the fact is that even this group is finding it hard to continue taking seriously a movement which Mr. Roosevelt has begun to treat with such facetiousness. The net result of his latest piece of waggishness has been to stimulate talk about the candidacies of others, particularly that of Mr. Paul McNutt, who, while far more active an aspirant than any other, early declared that he would be a candidate only if Mr. Roosevelt were not.

WITHIN the last few days, there has been here in Washington new impetus given the McNutt movement. Partly, this is due to the conviction of some of the ardent New Dealers that the President definitely is not going to be a candidate, and partly to the intensive work of the McNutt managers, who read into that Presidential jest the President's idea that the whole third term business is a joke and that by keeping up the mystery for a couple of months longer he is going to have the grandest kind of laugh upon the whole journalistic profession when he chooses to make plain and positive what should have been plain from the start.

AT ANY rate, some of the most extreme New Dealers very close to the President personally are now part of the McNutt movement. One or two of the strongest pro-Roosevelt writers have followed suit and at the moment the McNutt camp is full of enthusiasm. More clearly than ever his friends feel he is now indicated as the Roosevelt heir apparent. Certainly there is no other who seems preferred by Mr. Roosevelt, and if it is conceded that Mr. Roosevelt, though not himself a candidate, will be able to name the candidate the McNutt position is very good. Indeed, none other has received such marked favor; none other has so completely subordinated himself to the President.

ALTOGETHER, things look fairly bright for this hard-boiled, entirely selfish Indiana politician, except for one thing—to wit, the opposition of Mr. James A. Farley. Mr. Farley wisely refrains from talking about candidates these days, but there is no secret that he is not for Mr. McNutt. Moreover, it is doubtful whether Mr. Roosevelt or anyone else could get Mr. Farley for Mr. McNutt. Mr. Farley certainly will have more influence in the convention than any other individual, and the Roosevelt influence to be effective would have to be transmitted through Mr. Farley. Thus, while he may have very great support indeed, without Mr. Farley, Mr. McNutt can hardly get the nomination.

ASTUTE, loyal and likable, Mr. Farley has let the third term movement and the McNutt boom develop and dwindle without comment. So far as the first is concerned, there is reason to believe that he knows the real Roosevelt mind better than anyone else. The best evidence that Mr. Roosevelt will not run again is the fact that Mr. Farley, known to be opposed to a third term and yet loyal to Mr. Roosevelt, stays in the Cabinet and retains the Roosevelt friendship and confidence. There isn't any other way to figure that. The difference between Mr. Farley and other politicians here is that Mr. Farley knows what he is doing and where he is at all stages of the game. At this time his tall, smiling figure stands squarely athwart the McNutt path. At this time, entirely loyal to Mr. Roosevelt, he has the deepest admiration for Secretary Hull.

rector of Jenkintown high school. The nuptial ceremony was solemnized in Jenkintown Baptist Church, the Rev. George S. Young officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edward B. Edwards, and was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Edwards, as bridesmaid. The groomsmen was Edward Edwards, Jr., brother of the bride.

The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Following a reception Mr. Dougherty and bride left for a honeymoon trip. They will reside in Bethayres.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Edwards, formerly of Bristol. She is a graduate of Lansdale high school, and attended Beaver College. She is regarded as one of the best field hockey players in this section of the country, and was chosen to participate in the national intersectional tournament to be held soon in Cleveland, O., but owing to plans for the wedding, the scheduled tournament listing was cancelled.

Mr. Dougherty piloted Bristol teams to three grid titles, two basketball crowns, two baseball championships, two gymnastic top honors, eight county track diadems, including three in Class A and five in Class C, before going to Jenkintown in 1937. He climaxed his last year here with seven championship teams out of a possible eight. He is a graduate of Penn Charter School, Philadelphia, and of Springfield (Mass.) College. He has piloted the Drake court team of Jenkintown through two straight undefeated seasons in the Bux-Mont basketball circuit, winning 28 games in a row. He is also coach of St. Ann's football team in the independent ranks of Bucks County.

Freight Wreck Piles Up Over Four Tracks

Harrisburg to Jersey City and Boston and was hauled by two electric engines. The motor of the second engine was badly damaged.

The train was proceeding eastward at 8.43 o'clock when the six cars next to the engines suddenly leaped from the rails. The engines remained on the roadbed.

The automatic signals immediately stopped all traffic some distance from the scene. Word was sent to Trenton and other towns and wrecking crews were dispatched. Powerful wreckers lifted two of the freight cars from the westbound passenger tracks and deposited them several yards from the rails. After two hours No. 4 track was cleared and found to be not damaged.

Wenzel Funeral Services Held Here This Morning

lowing a four months' illness. He was 43 years of age.

Hundreds of friends of the deceased visited the Wenzel home, Fairview Lane, Wednesday and Thursday evenings to pay respect to the deceased. The flag at the Rohm & Haas plant has flown at half-staff since the death of Mr. Wenzel. Today there was a complete suspension of operations at the plant. Yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock several hundred employees of the company assembled at the plant and proceeded in a body to the Wenzel home and filed past the bier of the man who for the past 17 years had been their superior. Members of Bristol Lodge of Elks and Bristol Rotary Club visited the Wenzel home last evening.

This morning at 10.30 there was a private service held at the Wenzel home at which the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James Episcopal Church officiated. At 11 o'clock the service in St. James Church was conducted by the Rev. Boswell, and immediately following this the burial took place in Riverview Cemetery, Wilmington, Delaware. The Rev. Henry Harms, pastor of the Tacony German Lutheran Church, officiated.

The floral pieces were of large and elaborate design, and formed the largest floral display at a funeral held in this vicinity for a long time.

The pallbearers were Dr. Charles Hollander, Messrs. Leslie Helwig, Malcolm Orr, Vincent Henrich, William Sharkey and Harry Gough, all of departments of the Rohm & Haas firm.

Mr. Wenzel was a director of the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County; a member of St. James Episcopal Church; and had given several years of service on the executive board of Bucks County Boy Scouts. He was a member of Bristol Lodge, No. 979, B. P. O. Elks; Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. & A. M.; and of the Philadelphia Consistory, 32nd Degree. He was a charter member and a past president of the Bristol Rotary Club.

The deceased was the husband of Irene Crossland Wenzel, and son of Theodore Carl and Augusta Wenzel, Philadelphia. He is also survived by a daughter, Miss Norma Wenzel, and a son, Theodore Wenzel, 2nd, of Bristol; and a brother, Leon Wenzel, Philadelphia.

The funeral was under the direction of Robert C. Ruehl.

CLASS HAS SESSION

Sixteen members were present at the monthly meeting, Tuesday evening of the Sunday School class of Bristol Methodist Church taught by Miss Anna Heritage. Business was followed by a social time. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. C. Zook, Mrs. Wilkinson Bracken, Mrs. Richard Winslow and Miss Helen Appleton.

Games are being sought by the Celtics Catholic Club basketball team, which has organized to play either at home or away, meeting uniformed teams. First practice took place on Tuesday evening, and co-managers Callahan and Della were pleased with the showing of the squad. Anyone wishing games is asked to communicate with either Phillip Callahan, 206 Buckley street, or Vito Della, 217 Otter street.

Regrets Material Character Of Great Church Days

world in physical and material attainments, we wonder why it is that when a call for Thanksgiving is sounded such a pitifully small part of our people respond. Truly, we should have our eyes opened to the blessings of God, his infinite power, and his abundant goodness!

Did you ever hear of that day when the sun did not rise? The hour of dawn arrived, but no red rays pierced the eastern horizon. Seven o'clock came, but still no light in the heavens. Eight, nine, ten o'clock, then noon! But the noon was as black as midnight. No bird sang. There was only the hoot of the owl and the swish of the bat. The dark hours of a black afternoon dragged by. A chill was enveloping the earth. There was no glorious sunset, because the sun had not risen. There was no sleep that night; instead the people remained out of their beds, going from house to house, wondering what the end would be. Some wept, some wrung their hands in anguish; churches were thronged, people knelt in the streets to pray. God was called upon to deliver! When the morning hours approached, millions of tear-wet, eager eyes were turned toward the East. When the sky became red and the sun came up once more there went up a shout of joy that fairly echoed from star to star. "Bless the Lord, O my soul! Bless the Lord, O my soul!" Why were these people so thankful? Because the sun had failed to rise one day!

We are so like children. Give a child a gift every day for weeks, and when one day is missed the child feels that he has been slighted. He takes the gifts for granted, as if they were due him. So we have come to take for granted the wonderful blessings which God has, throughout our history, bestowed upon our nation!

I once visited a man who had been in a terrible accident. He alone had survived. As we talked together, he said, "God alone saved my life. I am so grateful to Him. I have not ceased thanking Him!" I could not refrain from asking him how many times he had safely travelled in his automobile without once thanking God for having protected him from an accident!

Yes, we have much for which to be thankful!

We must thank God for His church. We have just painted a picture of the world without a sunrise. What a dark and hopeless picture it is! But did you ever think what the world would be like without the Church of God? Look at the foreign lands and see how the church has become the agent to bring to them enlightenment. Look at the history of any nation before the church was as strong as it is now. Remember that the church gave birth to the first educational institutions in our country. Remember that the church founded the first hospitals in this country. Remember that the church sponsors practically all of those character-building movements for young people. Remember that the church is the one great moral stabilizer of our modern civilization. Remember that the church was the instrument which raised woman to her rightful place in society. Remember that the church does more for the underprivileged than any other organization that does not exist entirely for that purpose.

Primarily, remember that the church is the living body of Jesus Christ, the agency through which we have the opportunity to know Him and serve Him. Thank God for the church! Thank God that the church in the United States is not under the domination of the State and is not used as an agency for political purposes, as we know to be the case in some nations of the world. I saw a cartoon recently which pictured the inside of a beautiful church "somewhere in Europe," filled with people, the minister with his pulpit robes stood at the front of the congregation. At the foot of the cartoon were the words, supposedly spoken by the minister, "Here endeth the reading of the second news bulletin." We know that in some nations the Word of God is no longer preached, and the church has become an agency for the dissemination of propaganda by the State. Thank God that the church in the United States is still accountable only to God Himself, and is the agency for the dissemination of the Gospel of Jesus Christ!

We must thank God for the peace of our land. As we look around among the nations of the world and see the mighty conflicts raging on so many fronts; as we see life and property being so mercilessly destroyed, we must get down on our knees and thank God that we are at least in the present spared from the horror of war. A short while ago it was my privilege to attend a meeting of ministers and participate in a discussion on the topic, "If war comes to America, what will I say, do and think?" The discussion was led by two ministers who served as officers in the American Army in the last World War. There we had pictured the utter horror of war. One company of 250 young men was pictured going into a certain battle, with 90 returning.

We heard how the soldiers in the front ranks were raised to a high emotional pitch and taught to hate the enemy with a perfect hatred, and sent over the top with the desire to kill burning in their hearts. We saw men leaving their homes with high ideals, with the thought in mind to make the world safe for democracy and to fight a war to end all war. We see them coming home disillusioned; knowing that all the heartache and suffering was in vain, that the world was not made safe for democracy, but a seed-bed for dictatorships; that the world was not freed from war, but the seed of even more ghastly conflict was sown in the very victory they attained! We saw idealism, moralism and spirituality being mercilessly and painfully removed from the hearts and lives of our choicest young men and women. After twenty years of rebuilding on our part, after twenty years of rehabilitation, we must be most grateful to Almighty God that our hard-earned gains of recent years are not now being sacrificed on the altar of War. Our Nation at this time should not only be thanking God for peace, but praying to God for continued peace!

Most of all we should be thankful that we have a God to whom to be thankful! The eternity, the omnipotence and omnipresence and the love of God are things utterly beyond our comprehension, but things for which we should nevertheless be entirely grateful. As David has said in the 139th Psalm, "Thou compassed my path and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways. For there is not a word of my mouth, but lo, O Lord, thou knowest it altogether."

Thou hast beset me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me. Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain unto it. Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. I will praise thee, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvelous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well."

A God, whose love knoweth no bounds; a God whose power cannot be superseded; a God whose presence is constantly with His creatures, whose hand is always reached out to those who would call on Him, whose shoulder is always ready to bear our burden, whose Spirit will always ease our sorrow, is man's greatest blessing, and one for which he should be unceasingly thankful!

Gratitude to God should not be a passing fancy, an act indulged in at a set time each year, but it should be a constant attitude, a daily life. Empty words and high sounding phrases are, according to Isaiah, an abomination to the Lord. It is an expression translated into action which forms a valid testimony. I would like to read a portion of a letter I received this week with this word of explanation: Last year at this time it was my privilege to discover a needy Christian family in our community. Their need was described to my congregation, and a sum of money was forthcoming which enabled us to give that family a nice Thanksgiving dinner, clothes to wear and other necessities of life. Their appreciation was expressed many times, and their fidelity has been most gratifying. This week a letter was received from the family, a portion of which follows: "My husband last week obtained a job in a local plant at $16 per week. We are so happy and grateful. A year ago we needed a dinner and other help, this year please use the enclosed two dollars to help someone else to a Thanksgiving dinner, as our small gift to God from our grateful hearts." Needless to say, that letter gave me one of the

"O God, beneath thy guiding hand Our exiled fathers crossed the sea; And when they trod the wintry strand, With prayer and psalm they worshipped Thee."

"Thou heard'st, well pleased, the song, the prayer Thy blessings came; and still its power Shall onward, through all ages, bear The memory of that holy hour."

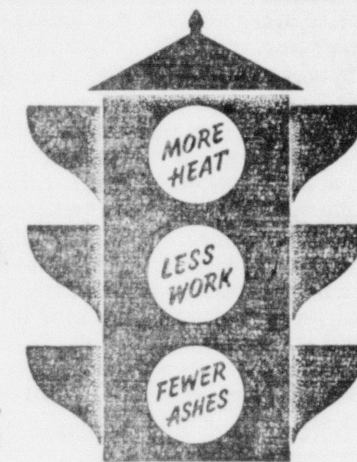

"Laws, freedom, truth, and faith in God Came with those exiles o'er the waves; And where their pilgrim feet have trod, The God they trusted guards their graves."

"And here Thy Name, O God of Love, Their children's children still adore, Till these eternal hills remove, And spring adorns the earth no more."

"Lord, open our eyes, that we might see!"

Dr. Manning and Miss Blanche
United in Marriage on Holiday

St. Mark's Catholic Church was the scene of a wedding on Thanksgiving Day, when Miss Frances K. Blanch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Blanch, 159 Otter street, became the bride of Dr. Valentine R. Manning, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Valentine R. Manning, Philadelphia. In the presence of many relatives and friends, the ceremony took place at 10 o'clock with nuptial mass, the Rev. E. Paul Baird officiating. The Rev. Albert Glass and the Rev. Joseph Murphy were in the sanctuary. Gold color chrysanthemums were on the altar and palms and ferns decorated the church.

As the bridal party entered, Miss Katharine Keating, organist, played Lohengrin's wedding march. Percy G. Ford sang "Panis Angelicus." "Because," "Oh Promise Me" and "Ave Maria."

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Geraldine Manning, Philadelphia, sister of the groom. The bridesmaids were Mrs. James Fox, Miss Grace Blanch and Miss Mary Blanch, sisters of the bride. Mary Roche, daughter of James Roche, and niece of the bride, was flower girl. Serving the groom as best man was Dr. Joseph J. Blanch, brother of the bride. The ushers included John Blanch, a brother of the bride; Theodore Hart McCalla, West Oak Lane; and Dr. Charles Schraeder, Philadelphia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white bengaline, fashioned with form-fitting bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves puffed at the shoulder and tight fitting to the wrist, ending in points over the hand. The long full skirt featured the bustle back and long train. The bride veil of tulle was attached to a cap of tulle, edged with a band of bengaline which tied in a flat bow in the back. Her slippers were white, and she carried white chrysanthemums with asparagus fern. She wore a jeweled cross and chain.

The dresses worn by the flower-girl and the attendants were fashioned like the bride's gown, with the exception that the sleeves were short and puffed. Mary Roche was charming in egg-shell tulle, white slippers and a tulle cap finished with a band of tulle. She carried a flat basket of small chrysanthemums in three tones of gold.

Miss Manning was attired in a light shade of gold tulle, slippers to match, head-piece made like the flower-girl's in the tone of her dress, and carried chrysanthemums in the three tones of gold. Mrs. Fox and Miss Mary Blanch were gowned in a shade of gold, slightly deeper in tone than that worn by Miss Manning. Their accessories and flowers were the same as those of the maid of honor. Miss Grace Blanch wore gold tone velvet with accessories and flowers the same as the other attendants. Each attendant wore a gold cross and chain, a gift from the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in black velvet trimmed in gold, and wore black and gold accessories and an orchid. The groom's mother wore grey velvet with accessories to match, and an orchid.

The groom's gifts to his attendants were suede gloves.

A reception for the immediate families and the bridal party was held at the home of the bride's parents, a turkey dinner being served. The couple left Thursday afternoon by motor for several days' honeymoon trip. The bride travelled in a brown woolen and velvet dress with accessories to match, and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Dr. and Mrs. Manning will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

The bride was born in New York, but has been a resident of Bristol for 17 years, graduating from Bristol high school and from the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, Philadelphia. She has been employed by the Neidich Process Company, Burlington, N. J. The groom graduated from Temple University and Medical School, Philadelphia, and received his internship at Temple University Hospital.

"Crashing Thru" is the thrilling story of a Mountie forced to trail a band of gold bullion hi-jackers into the wild Alaskan border country to live up to the motto, "They always get their man."

GRAND THEATRE

All its notable past achievements in being first on the screen with time-honored stories have been topped by the Warner Bros. Studio with "Espionage Agent," the sensational film starring Joel McCrea and Brenda Marshall which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre.

Since it takes a certain amount of Kelly, time to get a picture to the screen after the last shot has been filmed, it is certain that "Espionage Agent" was written and photographed before the outbreak of the European war, and yet it applies with vivid authenticity to the situation in which the United States finds itself today—the powerful neutral in a world of warring nations.

RITZ THEATRE

With Jascha Heifetz, the World's most renowned violinist starred, Samuel Goldwyn's new major production, "They Shall Have Music," which will have its premiere showing at the Ritz Theatre today, unfolds a gripping story of human interest, highlighted by tense and thrilling action.

The principal romantic roles are played by Andrea Leeds and Joel McCrea, while the important supporting roles are portrayed by Walter Brennan, Gene Reynolds and Tommy Kelly.

BRISTOL HIGH DEFEATS MORRISVILLE BEFORE LARGE CROWD

CARDINALS TAKE THE TURKEY DAY CLASSIC BY SCORE OF 12 TO 0

Huge Crowd of Fans Packs New Robert Morris Athletic Field at Morrisville

BRISTOL AT LEAGUE TOP

Bunnies Go Into League Lead By Virtue of Winning The Game

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 24—An overflow crowd jammed its way into the new Robert Morris athletic field here yesterday morning to watch the 12th annual traditional "Turkey Day" grid classic between the Bunnies of Bristol High and the Bulldogs of Morrisville High.

And when it was all over, they saw the Bunnies emerge the victors from the scrap, by a score of 12-0, leaving the softened Bulldog with another bruise for his activity during the season.

Not only that, they saw Bristol conquer their big rival for the first time since 1935 when they beat them at Bristol, 7-0. Thus, by winning, the Cards snapped the short-lived Bulldog winning streak which had reached two straight. And those, incidentally, are the only pair of victories on the records for the Bulldogs, who have gone down the beaten path of defeat nine times and have held the opposition to a tie in 1933.

Furthermore, they saw, as a result of the win, the Cardinals emerge to the top of the Lower Bucks Conference for the first time this season and also for the first time in two years—since they last beat the Bulldogs. However, their lead may not last long. For the Blue and Gold gridders can easily share the top honors with Bristol by knocking off the miserably weak Langhorne Redskins in the grand finale here Saturday, December 2nd.

Most of the 10 Bristol boys to leave the squad all played a good game to help in the cause of the triumph. Danny DiMidio and Hardy Johnson played especially well among the backs and so did Jimmy Orazi, who captained this game. Then, too, Bud Carter also played a fine game while in there. But don't overlook the play of a pair of substitutes in the backfield, Clem Peterpaul and Tony DiAngelo, who should make as good a combination as ever took the field for Bristol in a couple of years.

On the line it was Joe Dugan, Ted Sak, and "Chart" Tomlinson who stood out although all the rest of the Seniors played well too including the two ends, Joe Pica and Steve Florito, and Johnny Ferry and John Cocordas.

The Bulldogs had their stars too with Red Thorn and Bob Percell standing out among the ball jugglers and "K" Gentry starring on the defense along with Charlie Perrine and Marve Gandleman.

Held for four downs after making a first down on the Bulldogs four yard line at the outset of the second period, the Cards, undaunted, came back to tally both touchdowns in the same session.

After the Bulldogs lost the ball on downs on their own 44 yard line, the Cards started to march late in the opening canto. A five yard penalty against the Blues moved it down to the 39 and DiMidio took turns to lug the pigskin to the 14 for another first down with Peterpaul picking up nine more yards to put it on the 5 as the period ended.

Peterpaul gained the necessary yard to make a first down on the 4 on the first play of the second period. But then the Bulldog line held and took possession of the ball on their own 2 yard line from whence they kicked out to their own 45, Orazi returning it 8 yards to the 37.

From there Bristol marched to its first touchdown. In fact, it wasn't a march at all, but rather an air raid that resulted in the six pointer.

After picking up 3 yards then losing 5 on a penalty to the 39, Tony DiAngelo started on a sweep around his own left end. The Morrisville backfield was "sucked" in and Tony heaved the leather over the head of the Blues secondary with Clem Peterpaul the recipient on the 25 from where he raced into the end zone, shaking off Thorn on the 19 yard line and proceeding uninterrupted the rest of the way. Carter's placement try was blocked.

Near the end of the period, Hardy Johnson halted a Morrisville drive by intercepting a Thorn "bullet pass" on his own 25, and before running, he returned the inflated leather 43 yards to the Blue and Gold's 32 yard stripe where he was tossed out of bounds.

After Johnson lugged the ball to the 30, Danny DiMidio completed two straight passes to "Jasper" Mandracchini and Tony DiAngelo for a total of 20 yards to put the ball on the Bulldogs' 10 from where Johnson swept wide around his own right end to cross into scoring territory before being downed. This time an attempted pass for the extra point was intercepted by Bill Talone who ran some 103 yards to Bristol's end zone. But it was all in vain for the defending team can only prevent the opposition from scoring but cannot score themselves on the point after touchdown.

Coach John Hoffman's boys threatened seriously only once all morning. It came in the closing minutes of the final period. A poor kick by DiMidio traveled only 15 yards to Morrisville's 49 from where they opened their "last ditch" drive. It carried them down to Bristol's 14 on two consecutive first downs on completed aerials by Thorn for gains of 15, 11 and 10 yards, respectively. But a fourth attempt to advance via the ozone route met with disaster to the Bulldogs' scoring chances for the pass was intercepted by Jimmy Orazi who grabbed it on his own 5 and returned it 15 yards to the 20. Shortly after the game ended with Bristol in possession of the ball on their own 49 where Morrisville had just lost it on downs.

Statistics on the game showed the tilt was much closer and more evenly balanced than the score indicates. In fact, the Bulldogs scored one more first down than did Bristol, making 7 to 6 for the Cards. They gained 111 yards rushing while Bristol garnered 114 the same way, lost 43 in like manner as compared to 21 yards of detour Bristol had to make up. Morrisville threw 11 aerials, completed 5 for 46 yards while Bristol tossed 8, completed 4 for 65 yards.

Although the largest crowd ever to witness a grid scrap here wasn't exactly "baked" by the sun-flooded field, yet they enjoyed themselves amidst a cool Autumn breeze which was so contrasting to the cold wind and sleet that swept the field last year.

That swept the field last year.

NEWTOWN VICTORS OVER LANGHORNE, 14 TO 0

NEWTOWN, Nov. 24—Some 1200 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a football game here, saw the Newtown Indians rise up to down the Langhorne Redskins in their 10th annual grid warfare here yesterday morning, 14-0. In a Lower Bucks Conference tilt.

Submerged by 6-0 scores the past two seasons by their neighborhood foe, the Indians came back strong to outclass the invading warriors nearly 3-to-1. They chalked up touchdowns in the opening and closing periods to provide themselves with their victory margin.

FALLS ALUMNI FIVE TO MEET CELTICS ON COURT TONIGHT

Manhattan Soap Co. Will Have Mill Street Boys' Club As Their Opponents

TWO GOOD GAMES

Rivals Clash in Bristol Basketball League Contests on Mutual Aid Court

Bristol Basketball League
Schedule for Tonight
FALLS ALUMNI-CELTICS
MILL ST. B. C.-MANHATTAN

The 1939 edition of the Falls Alumni basketball team will make its appearance in the Bristol Basketball League tonight when it clashes with the Celtics in the first game scheduled on the Italian Mutual Aid floor. In the second encounter, the Mill Street Boys' Club meets the Manhattan Soap Company five.

The Alumni team will be composed of most of last season's players with the addition of several graduates of last year's Falls High School team, notably among these is Bob Chewning who was high scorer in the Lower Bucks County Conference.

Mike DeRisi also has Shirley Duerr, Steve Jadlocki, George Roberts, Bill Lovett, Freddie Briglie, and Johnson. And these are the men who will carry the bulk of the work to push the Falls team on top. The Alumni boys made an excellent showing in both halves of last year and are picked to finish in the first three this season.

Vito Della's Celtics did not appear any too impressive in their opening contest but Vito claims it was from lack of practice. He ordered practice sessions twice this week and feels confident that the Bristol fans will see a different brand of playing tonight. Manhattan opened its season last Monday with a triumph and now intends to keep up its winning streak.

by taking over the Mill streeters. But the Boys Club think differently and feel that they should have beaten the Grundy team last Monday but lacked the necessary punch in the final few minutes.

Manager Grimes has added Pete Borrice to his list and this should help strengthen the defensive work of the outfit. Manhattan, managed by Charlie Dugan is sticking to its same starting lineup.

First tap-off will take place at eight o'clock sharp.

NUMEROUS BOWLING MATCHES ARE PLAYED

Susie Q's won 3 points from Sottung's with "Dutch" Keers leading 480. Sally O'Boyle was high for Grundy's with 433.

"Jack" Wichser's Elktonians defeated Grundy's, with Jean Hubbard leading, 460. F. Hibbs was high for Grundy's with 406.

Stand Ins and Sweetheart Soap split two each. Carrie Keers lead with 478. Flanagan was high for the Sweethearts with 362.

OWL GRIDDERS WIN OVER ALUMNI, 13 TO 0

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 24—A touchdown in the first and last quarters gave Bensalem Owl gridders a 13-0 triumph over their Alumni before a big crowd which turned out to see the first Turkey Day clash between the two rivals here yesterday morning.

The Owls capitalized on a pair of breaks to push over their brace of six-pointers with Bill Lamon and Al Despo each chalking up one and Henry Kilian adding the extra point to the last tally on a pass.

Forced to punt deep in their own territory, Bob Lange, Alumni quarterback, got off a poor kick, and it went out of bounds on their own 36 yard line. After making a first down on the 25, then plunging down to the 22 on a crack at the line, Bob Scarborough faded back and from the 30, heaved a long pass down the middle aisle to Bill Lamon, who snatched it on the Alumni 4 yard line and raced over standing up. The play was good for a total of 22 yards all told.

In the final chapter, the Owls punted to the ex-students' 20 marker. Then on three consecutive plays, they lost 15 yards on poor passes from center, forcing them back to their own end zone to punt on last down. Bensalem linemen broke through to partly block Lange's boot and recovered on the 4 yard line. Al Despo, Owl halfback, cracked off left tackle to go over on the initial thrust at the Alumni line. Henry Kilian counted the extra tally on a pass from Bob Scarborough.

Franklin A. C. Ready To Book Games Now

Tuesday evening on the Mutual Aid Court the Franklin A. C. held its first practice. A large turnout occurred. Of these fifteen players were selected by Coach Joe Ciarella. Franklin A. C. will enter the Bristol Suburban League at Croydton. They will play their first practice game Monday, Nov. 27th at Philadelphia, facing the Lighthouse Men's Club. Coach Ciarella was very pleased with the boys' showing. In the Lighthouse game he will use Rocky Sagolla and Anthony Palumbo, at forwards, Joe Tunis will be at center, and at guards will be Joe Ciarella and Pete DeLuca. For Reserves he has John Messinelli, John Ventriglia, Pete DiGirolamo, Jim Torano, Fred Field, Angelo Spinelli, Fred Marino, Gaspar Mangiaracina, Mike LaSalle and Carl Spinelli to choose from. With the lineup Coach Ciarella feels that his boys will make a good showing and have a successful season. If any Club desires games with the Franklin A. C. Please write to Vince Mastriana, c/o Franklin A. C. or call Bristol 9820. This team will play all their games away.
